

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Detroit's Most Outrageous Contract Killers Are Back!

More hilarious and nasty hijinks from Rip & Wilma in Double Tap by Peter McGarvey

Double Tap: a shooting technique where two shots are fired in rapid succession at the same target.

TORONTO, ON — May 17, 2016 — Cliff House Publishing today released Peter McGarvey's Double Tap, the newest RIP & WILMA HITS caper, featuring the fast-paced, often comic, adventures of a 'likeable' pair of contract killers. Hair Trigger was the first in the series.

"Rip and Wilma are Detroit – soulless, cold, desperate, and mean, but not without a certain charm." [John Wooley]

When Rip and Wilma are hired to find the killer of a well-known state senator, the job should be easy — especially since they're the ones who killed him in the first place! Double Tap takes Rip and Wilma from Motown to the Swiss Alps, and from a maximum security prison into the eye of a raging hurricane. Along the way they have to dodge badass bikers, killer lumberjacks, crooked cops — and a satanic cult that could be their nastiest adversary ever.

Peter McGarvey is also the author of MOLLY PARSONS MYSTERIES, featuring a bounty hunter turned police detective working in the resort town of Sunset. Released in 2012, his first novel, Dark Sunset, was called "a near-perfect fusion of character and setting. ... a real page-turner ..." [Don Hutchison, The Great Pulp Heroes]. Bloody Sunset continues the series, with Foggy Sunset slated to be released in the Fall of 2016. McGarvey's books are available in bookstores and at online retailers.

Peter McGarvey has been a magazine columnist, radio journalist, advertising copywriter, marketing and sales executive, and filmmaker. He grew up in the small Ontario towns of Orillia and Chatham and now lives in Toronto. Visit the author's website at <http://PeterMcGarvey.com/>.

###

Peter McGarvey is available for interviews, readings, and panels. To book, contact Amy Mark, Associate Publisher
Cliff House Publishing
Amy@CliffHousePublishing.com
647.955.9848
<http://CliffHousePublishing.com>